

Topic

Conversation
for Idioms

Lesson 47
Heart

1

Every day your heart beats 100,000 times.

2

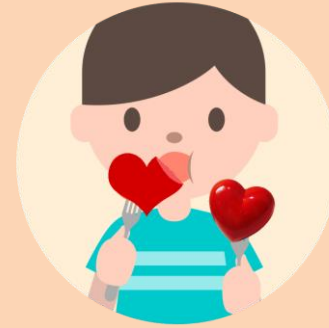

Each minute your heart pumps 5 liters of blood.

3

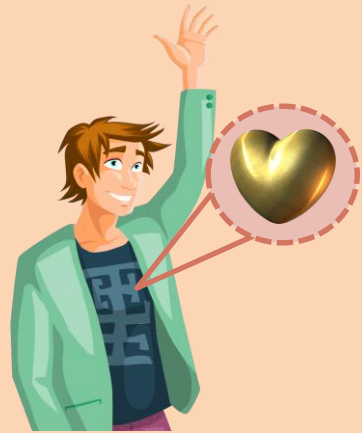

Happiness helps lower the risk of heart disease.

melt one's heart

eat one's heart out

have a heart of gold

have a heart of stone

1. It melts my heart when I see poor children on the street.

Q What things make your heart melt?
Give 2 examples.

Q Can we stop our hearts from melting?
Why or why not?

2. It made my opponents eat their hearts out when I hit the bullseye in the archery contest.

Q Which is true about the statement?

- I made my opponents jealous by hitting the bullseye.
- I hit the first bullseye which made me the overall champion.

3. My boss has a heart of stone. He gives so much workload even on the weekends.

 Describe a person who has a heart of stone in 3 words.

1

2

3

4. Joy always volunteers at the charity events. She has a heart of gold.

Q Which statement correctly describes Joy?

Joy has a lot of free time.

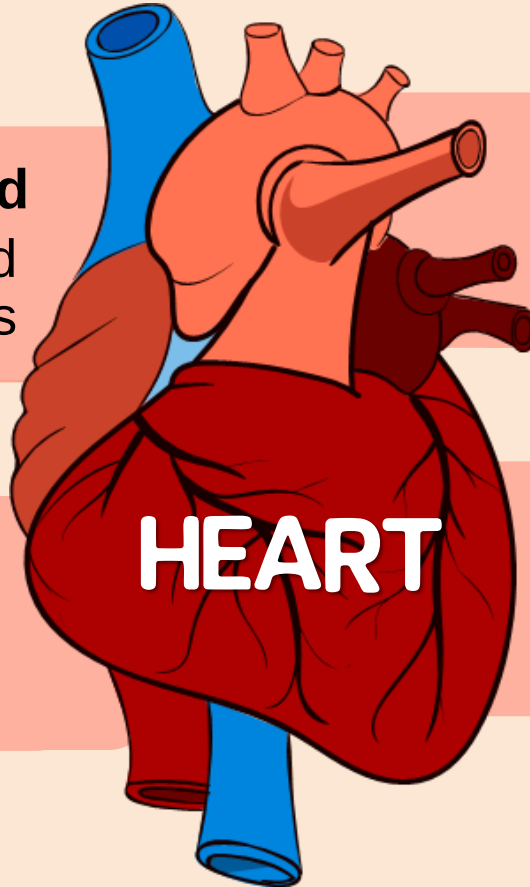

Joy is kind and generous.

Quick Review

have a heart of gold
to be very kind
and generous

eat one's heart out
to be jealous of
someone's accomplishments

have a heart of stone
to have an unfriendly or unkind disposition

melt one's heart
to fill someone with compassion, sympathy, etc.

- It melts my heart when my younger brother cries.
 - It melted my heart when my younger brother cries.
-
- I love my grandma so much because she has a heart of gold.
 - I love my grandma so much because she has a heart of silver.
-
- The teacher has a heart of stone towards naughty students.
 - The teacher has a heart of rocks towards naughty students.
-
- I eat my heart when my competitor won the first prize.
 - I ate my heart out when my competitor won the first prize.

1. I was jealous when my parents gave my brother more allowance.
(eat one's heart out)
2. My mom is very kind for stray animals. She likes helping them.
(has a heart of gold)
3. The villain in the movie is cruel but many people like him.
(has a heart of stone)
4. I feel sad when I see families lose their homes during the typhoon.
(melt one's heart)

Discussion

Complete the heart pieces by answering the questions.

Who has a heart of gold in your family?
Explain why?

Do you eat your heart out when you see your friend's achievements?

Would you like a person who has a heart of stone?
Why or why not?

Do you think people whose hearts easily melt are weak?
Why or why not?

